Sun and Moon

Sun in Capricorn (21° Cap 34')
Sun in the Eighth House

The Sun is the most important planet to consider in an Annual chart since it tells you where and how you're likely to focus your basic energy over this twelve-month period until your next birthday. With the Sun placed in the Eighth House, the emphasis is on a powerful, life changing transformation.

You do well not to let the idea of change intimidate you in any way. At this time, the more you hold on and refuse to let go of behaviors that you have outgrown, the more you will suffer. It's likely you have already been hearing the rumblings of change stirring inside your soul for some time now, so that the idea of transformation is not exactly a shocking revelation. You knew this was coming. In fact, a part of you is likely to be relieved that it's finally happening. This year-long period will empower you if you can make the best of it and grow in your understanding of yourself and of others around you.

This placement could also symbolize a year of issues surrounding sex, money, other people's resources, or power struggles. You may find that you possess a strong interest in the feelings of intimate persons in your life at this time, as well as in occult studies. Your perceptions into the motivations of other people will be acute this year; nothing will get past you.

In the extreme, you could discover ways that other people are trying to deceive or manipulate you during this time. It's likely that you'll be aware of this possibility before it happens. If so, trust your instincts.

If you have any debt or major financial worries, this is the year that you will focus on them and actively find solutions. In general, the changes that you are putting yourself through over the course of this year are likely to be much-needed, and of long-term benefit as you enter a new phase of self-realization.

Sun in strong sextile
(within 3.1 degrees) with Moon

The planetary energies flow together, open into new possibilities, new connections.

With the Sun in flowing aspect to the Moon in your Annual chart, over the twelve-month period until your next birthday there will be an emphasis on personal transformation. This is a pleasant alignment and symbolizes a year of many changes that will be relatively easy to assimilate. The house placement of the Sun will have an added importance over this year-long period so read that section of this report carefully.

There will be perhaps subtle changes that take place over the course of this year in the areas of domestic scene versus career, private versus public commitments, or ego versus emotional needs. Things are likely to proceed smoothly and with little conflict, allowing you to arrive at an agreeable solution to these issues.

Because you are likely to have good agreement in terms of your conscious and unconscious awareness pertaining to the area of life in which this alignment manifests, you might not notice the changes that you are in the midst of until you look back with the perspective of time. Still, a significant development over the course of this year is indicated, experienced in both internal and external worlds.

Sun in strong conjunction
(within 0.6 degrees) with Venus

The strongest blend of the energies represented by these two planets.

With the Sun conjunct Venus in your Annual chart, over the twelve-month period until your next birthday the emphasis is on assimilating your values with your identity.

This is an important year for art and aesthetics, perhaps for monetary gain. If you are a male, romance could also come into the picture, or connections with influential women; while if you are female the art of your own presentation becomes a potential focus. This configuration also indicates a strong desire to balance your personality and to achieve in creative ways, although you could perhaps find yourself inclined toward a more lazy or self-indulgent demeanor than usual - perhaps even tending to the narcissistic. The symbolism of Venus with Sun harmonizes your sense of self with the importance of others in your life, especially when your relationship drive is more consciously directed. This manifests most clearly in matters ruled by the house in which the Sun is placed.

During this year-long period, material rewards are likely through the assertion of your talents and efforts. It is also possible for you to create new relationship dynamics and to enjoy enhanced powers of attraction. You exude a strong sense of grace and charm and tend to seek more social activity. In a very literal sense, your physical appearance and style are likely to improve. Your senses may be exquisitely heightened this year as well.

You are likely to benefit from the use of this energy for creative endeavors, pursuing artistic and cultural goals, in a year when you will appear very likable and social to others. Your ability to strive for harmony over the course of these twelve months will also work to your advantage.

Sun in strong sextile
(within 0.6 degrees) with Mars

The planetary energies flow together, open into new possibilities, new connections.

With the Sun in flowing aspect to Mars in your Annual chart, over the twelve-month period until your next birthday there is an emphasis on asserting your identity with increased vitality and force, but in a relatively gentle way that will not seem overbearing.

There is every indication for success. If you initiate a project this year that requires exuberance, drive and ambition to complete you are likely to do well with it.

There is also some potential for anger and selfishness to manifest this year, although you will also have a good sense of control regarding outbursts. It is more likely that will channel this increased vitality, achieving more than you could initially conceive. Your sex drive might tend to increase as well, which could be enjoyable.

This is likely to be a year for you to combine your powers of assertion and courage towards self-development. You will fight for your right to express the very essence of who you are and there is every indication that you will do so.

Sun in strong sextile
(within 2.9 degrees) with Jupiter
Leading planet of planetary pattern

The planetary energies flow together, open into new possibilities, new connections.

With the Sun in flowing aspect to Jupiter in your Annual chart, over the twelve-month period until your next birthday the emphasis is on expanding your personality and identity into a more enlightened awareness.

You are apt to experience a taste of success this year. It is as if the universe has granted you a lucky break. It's likely that a renewed sense of faith and optimism in yourself will be a factor in your spiritual development over these twelve months. In addition, your personal philosophy, sense of spirituality and belief system will likely be important factors in your growth.

The department in which these gains and increased self-confidence will take place depends on the house where the Sun is located. This area of life could also witness an over-expansion as well, so that it is prudent to maintain a sense of cautious rather than fully exuberant optimism in order to create greater balance in this area.

You have the potential to truly improve yourself in many areas of life this year so that you do well to take advantage of whatever opportunities come your way. There is likely to be an air of nobility and dignity in the way that you go about things, so that you might also be seen as wiser and more honorable by others.
